

BRISCOE CENTER FOR AMERICAN HISTORY

Permission to Publish or Use
Reproductions of Materials
*(Please fill out completely where starred*)*

I hereby request permission from The University of Texas Dolph Briscoe Center for American History to publish or to use in facsimile reproduction the material(s) identified below, for which the Briscoe Center has ownership rights. The permission granted is for a single use of the material(s) in a publication, exhibit, or other medium. Subsequent use of the material(s), including reprints or new editions of a publication, requires a separate request for permission to publish and payment of additional preservation fees. By signing this form I acknowledge that I understand and agree to the following stipulations:

I understand and agree that in giving its permission the Briscoe Center retains its right to publish these materials or to grant permission to others to do so, and that I am responsible for publishing or for using in facsimile reproduction these materials in accordance with the copyright protections established in the United States Copyright Law. See the attached document for more information. I also agree not to alter the image in any way when publishing or displaying the reproduction.

I understand that the Supreme Court of Texas has recognized that living persons enjoy a common-law right to privacy. This right prevents the public disclosure of information that (1) contains highly intimate or embarrassing facts about a person's private affairs, such that its release would be highly objectionable to a reasonable person and (2) is of no legitimate concern to the public. I understand that documents containing information falling into these categories may be restricted by such law from publication. A request to publish the names or other identifying information about individuals from documents created within the last 75 years which would violate the common-law right to privacy defined above will be denied.

I WILL DEFEND, INDEMNIFY, AND HOLD HARMLESS THE DOLPH BRISCOE CENTER FOR AMERICAN HISTORY, THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT AUSTIN, AND THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS SYSTEM, ITS BOARD OF REGENTS, ITS OFFICERS, EMPLOYEES AND AGENTS AGAINST ALL CLAIMS, DEMANDS, COSTS, AND EXPENSES, INCLUDING WITHOUT LIMITATION, ATTORNEYS' FEES, INCURRED AS A RESULT OF ALLEGED OR ACTUAL COPYRIGHT INFRINGEMENT OR ANY OTHER LEGAL OR REGULATORY CAUSE OF ACTION ARISING FROM THE USE OF THE DOLPH BRISCOE CENTER FOR AMERICAN HISTORY MATERIALS.

Request To Copy Copyrighted Material For Publication Or Other Commercial Use

If you are requesting a copy of copyrighted material from one of the Dolph Briscoe Center for American History's collections and that material may be used for commercial purposes, you are required to sign the "Request for Permission to Publish or Use Reproductions of Materials" agreement on the previous pages before a copy can be made for you.

Background Information: When the use is commercial, the library requires that the Requestor obtain permission from the copyright owner. If the Requestor undertakes and documents a reasonable inquiry and cannot locate a rights holder from whom permission could be obtained, and if the Requestor requesting the copy is willing to indemnify the University against any claim that the library's act of providing a copy were an infringement of a third party's rights, the library may reasonably conclude that it should provide the copy.

Reasonable inquiry: A reasonable inquiry by the Requestor who is requesting the copy should include those of the following steps that are relevant.

1. First ascertain whether the work might be in public domain.
2. Contact the author or the publisher, if known, by letter, telephone or e-mail.
3. Sometimes the apparent copyright owner is no longer the copyright owner. Contact the U.S. Copyright Office for information. The Copyright Office now provides online information at <http://lcweb.loc.gov/copyright/> and performs professional searches for a fee.
4. If the author, creator or publisher of the materials is not obvious, such as may be the case for historical photographs, architectural drawings, personal papers or other archival materials, the task may be more difficult. Try the following:
  - Check with staff of the library owning the material for information about who owns copyright in the work and how to contact the owner. For example, the library that owns the materials may own the copyright or have information about whom to contact to ask permission to publish the work or excerpts from it.
  - Check the WATCH File [<http://www.lib.utexas.edu/Libs/HRC/WATCH/>], a database that contains primarily the names and addresses of copyright holders or contact persons for English-language authors whose papers are housed in whole or in part in libraries in North America and the United Kingdom.
  - Check with the library or other source for an alternative work that is either in the public domain or for which copyright ownership can be more easily determined.

A reasonable inquiry that results in no identifiable or reachable copyright owner, coupled with a signed indemnification form from the Requestor, may provide sufficient reassurance that our providing a copy is a fair use, that our actions will not likely harm an unknown rights holder and that, the Requestor will bear the risk of such harm, however remote it may be.
