Primary Source Detective

1. What can we learn by examining these different materials?

2. How do you think historians use this kind of information to write the history that we read in our textbooks and other sources?

3. How are the materials here different from each other?