

Reference & Access - Appraisals for Value or Authenticity

The Briscoe Center for American History staff cannot perform appraisals, but they can help you identify standard published reference works such as American Book-Prices Current and Bookman's Price Index that contain information, such as past auction records, that might help you determine the market value of your items, especially books. Additionally, here is a list of Austin-area appraisers whom you might wish to hire to establish market value or authenticity. Inclusion within this list does not imply endorsement by the Briscoe Center, nor does the Briscoe Center assume responsibility for arrangements made with these appraisers. The Briscoe Center will not recommend appraisers. Please contact these appraisers directly concerning fees and arrangements.

Photograph appraisals

Lorraine Davis
(505) 310-0661
lorraine@lorrainedavis.com

Photograph appraisals

Marianne Fulton
(512) 382-9535 (h)
mfulton2@austin.rr.com

Rare books and manuscripts

Adam Muhlig
(512) 897-7988
adammuhlig@earthlink.net

American history, especially Texas and the Southwest, the South, and the Civil War

T. Michael Parrish
(254) 424-6610
Michael_Parrish@baylor.edu

Rare books, manuscripts, and photographs

Luke Bilberry
12th Street Books
827 West 12th Street
Austin, Texas 78701
(512) 499-8828
orders@12thstreetbooks.com

Only appraisers with skills which align with the Briscoe Center's collection strengths will be included on the list. We suggest that you also contact rare, used, or out-of-print book dealers in your area. For further information on questions about rare books and book values, please visit the Association of College and Research Libraries' Rare Books and Manuscripts Section Web page "Your Old Books."

Additional online resources include:

- <http://www.abebooks.com>
- <http://www.alibris.com>
- <http://www.biblio.com>
- <http://www.bibliopoly.com>